CELEBRATED HIGHEST PREMIUM
Cytherean Hair Oil, or Wash;
COMPOSED OF

ROSE HARY

AND CASTOR OIL, FOR
Beautifying, Restoring, Embellishing and Curling the Hair.

THE virtues of Rosemary and Castor Oil are well known, they enter into numerous articles of the toilet; but it is only when combined by the chemistry and intricate process, peculiar to this article, in America, that Universality is acquired.

1—To cure the hair painfully.
2—To cure the dandruff effectually.
3—To restore the hair to bald heads.
4—To prevent the hair from falling off.
5—To prevent the hair from turning gray or grayish.
6th—To give to Whiskers a beautiful appearance.
7—To cure diseases of the scalp.
8—To cure diseases of the hair.
9—To prevent the hair from falling off.
10—To give a rich, luxuriant, dark color.

Also, it is the best article in use for Dressing Ladies' hair, and for Children's hair it is unrivalled, as it will be done with more neatness and order as low as at any other mill. All persons having purchased oil of me are the watch of the Public to detect any deficiency of the oil or wash, and wishing to have the same re-stocked in the above articles, will find a great saving by having their work done at Hall's Mill, as the expense of transportation by water does not exceed one-fourth the cost of land conveyance.

HERE IS YOUR REMEDY.

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT.

A MOST MIRACULOUS CURE OF BAD LEGS, AFTER 43 YEARS' SUFFERING.

Extract of a Letter from Mr. William Gibson, of 72 Sir Henry's Street, Westminster, dated May 28th, 1851.

To Professor Holloway.

Sir,—At the age of 61 my wife broke a vein in her left leg, which resulted in her having a bad leg ever since that time, she having been under the care of many, and treated by different medical men, all of whom pronounced it incurable, and for months together she was ordered perfect rest and sleep. Every remedy the medical men advised was tried, but without effect; her health suffered severely, and the state of her leg was terrible. I had often seen your Pills and Ointment spoken of in such extraordinary terms, and advised her to try them. She commenced rubbing the ointment well into the sore and around it, and took the Pills according to the directions. In a few weeks a great change for the better took place, and in a short time the sore was entirely healed over, and she was perfectly well. I cannot express my gratitude sufficiently for the benefit I have derived from your Pills and Ointment, and, as a last resource for every one similarly afflicted, I strongly recommend a trial of them, as I am sure they will prove the means of saving many a fellow creature.

(Signed) WILLIAM GALPIN.

A PERSON 70 YEARS OF AGE CURED OF A LEG OF FIVE YEARS' STANDING.

Copy of a Letter from Mr. [illegible], dated May 31st, 1851.

To Professor Holloway.

Sir,—I suffered from a rooted sore leg for five years, and for the relief I received from the use of your Pills and Ointment I consider them worth their weight in gold. I had tried many remedies without deriving any benefit, and was at last induced to try your Pills and Ointment, and was astonished to find that the first application of the Ointment gave me relief. I persevered in the use of your Pills and Ointment for a few weeks longer, and my leg was completely healed over, and has remained so ever since. I have recommended your Pills and Ointment to many persons, and they have in every instance done them good. I am willing that you should make what use you please of this testimonial, as I am sure it will be the means of saving many a fellow creature.

WHIG NOMINATIONS.

FOR GOVERNOR,

William G. Crosby

OF BELFAST.

FOR CONGRESS

ISRAEL WASHBURN, JR.

Baltimore Correspondence.

Baltimore, June 19, 1852.

The most ample preparation has been made by the Whigs in this city, for the accommodation of the Convention, by which most or all of the annoyances usual on similar occasions will be avoided. The appearance of the Hall is very fine, and it will accommodate a very large number of persons in addition to the members of the Convention. A throng of delegates and others, has been pouring into the city for two or three days, and to-night, with the stifled hot air and packed houses, the city seems really in a state of suffocation. The excitement is great and the canvassing uncommonly active for the three worthy candidates of the whigs, one of whom no one doubts will be nominated, but which of them is just now the very interesting question, but may be answered to you by telegraph, even before this message reaches you.—This contingency prevents me forwarding to you the speculations of the hour.

The entire Union will, doubtless, be represented by delegates, and the special friends of each candidate, appear to have no doubt as to the ultimate success of their candidate, but as stated in my previous letter, Gen. Scott will win the field, and old Churubusco will be the next president of the United States.

The whigs from the South and generally in favor of Mr. Fillmore as their candidate, he having faithfully administered the government upon national and sectional principles, upon truly patriotic and not upon narrow party devotion. Their next choice is Mr. Webster, who everywhere is regarded as the intellectual giant, and the foremost man of all this round world: a statesman who would keep the ship of State onward in its course, free from foreign entanglements, collisions, interruptions and disturbances: a commercial man in his far thought into business, and acquaintance with the elements of the prosperity and progress of the country: a patriot, taking in at one view, the vast patriotic elements which will make the country a united and happy people. Many there are who would prefer to see Daniel Webster the president of the United State above any living man, but who yet doubt the expediency and safety of making him the whig candidate for this office.

Our Southern brethren have no hesitation in saying that they are willing to take either Mr. Fillmore or Mr. Webster, without first establishing for them any platform, but with Gen. Scott they will exact and demand a broad and unmistakable platform. This is not treating the gallant General as he should be treated.—His life devoted with true earnest patriotism to the service of his country, in which he has known no North, no South, no East, and no West, in the path of duty, should by a pledge beyond which no true whig should seek to go.

On the assembling of the convention to-morrow the work will commence, and probably the day will be spent in settling the questions regarding contested seats; and perhaps some progress will be made in determining the disposition which shall be made of the subject of a platform, unless, indeed, this matter can be arranged without the office of the convention.

There is a very general feeling here that the whigs have assembled here not to dig the grave of their party, and however warmly they may bring their issues, they will at length harmonize in their determination to give an earnest support to the nominees and to elect them.

Yours, S.

Fun From California.

The Mercury of Friday has a letter from a California correspondent, who has some fun in him. His name is "Charles," and he writes from Marysville under date of May 10, 1852. Of the "rat eating Chinese" he says:

"Scarcely a steamer arrives at our landing, that is not loaded with these rat-eating Sinpis. I have it from a gentleman of undoubted veracity, that on passing a house where about one hundred of them had stopped over night, he could have gathered three bushels of rat-tails. One thing is very certain, that since the Chinese immigration commenced, the number of our rats have materially diminished, and it is to be hoped that no act of legislative or executive recommendation will be brought to bear upon them until each individual rat shall have fallen a prey to the fell destroyer."

"Touching the Sandwich Islanders, who went to church on Sunday, he remarks:

"On arriving at church last Sabbath forenoon, where I found the seats crowded with Kanakas, while the usual attendants, like outsiders at Trinity Church in New York, were forced to take the benches. They seemed to be deeply interested in the sermon, (although they could not understand a word,) and contributed liberally, when the 'hat went round'—for which purpose I presume they were invited there, by some of the 'faithful,' who had greater consideration for the 'Box' than our bodily comfort. Judging, however, from the tone of their conversation when retiring, I thought they expressed some doubts as to whether they got their money's worth."

He says they want young ladies there. Read what he says, fair damsels, and determine whether it is or not best for you to go a fortune hunting in California, as some young gentleman may be before you, with a prospect of getting him into the fortune too:

"Have you any young ladies to send us in your part of the country? If you have not, as young blood are too desirable to remain long on hand; but if you have, you had better send out a few and keep them with us at home. There are more than twice as many men here as females, and quite a handsome income can be made for this article. On the arrival of a steamer from Panama, there usually is a half dozen, more or less, of this gentlemanly pleasing, on the wharf with a view to purchase to keep. Such is the way we are situated with the women here. Any handsome lady can get married in a few days after arrival."

Lancaster, the late Whig candidate for Governor of Ohio, has been appointed Postmaster of Cincinnati, in the place of Mr. Hall, the Democratic candidate for Governor.

The Genuine at Rome.

A European correspondent of the Savannah Republican, writing from Paris, under date of April 28, 1852, gives his opinion of the German character. It will be seen that they do not correspond with those generally entertained in regard to that people.

"How the term phlegmatic was ever applied to the Germans, I cannot conceive, unless the characteristics of the Dutch have been transferred to them by mistake. Sometimes I think they surpass the Italians in enthusiasm. They certainly excel them in caresses, compliments, and kissing. They are effusive, and pat-ched friends, desperate lovers, with the usual succession of sighs, tears, and embraces, in express. Their various modes of salutation would enhance my vocabulary. Some of the salutations are singular. In Silesia, boys often are greeted with I salute you pompion-ly—the last always raised two or three times, and replaced as often, if the person speaking be a gentleman—They hold bows and courtesies, if to a lady. They often say to meeting, 'Jesus Christ be praised.' If you leave an inn or a railway where you have been making a purchase, you may always hear, 'Besuchte mich—and you will receive another time.' (I recommend the word—it sounds so genteel.)

The natural German level appears to me to be gentle, soft, and very sensual. The profound learning of their professors is proverbial. No students have so much leaning towards despising the inner Holy and Holy of Holies and Romans. They have reduced all to clear analysis, all that has been sacred in their languages—even to the core itself. But they do not apply their studies to the affairs of government. Their learning, in other words, is book learning. It is their amusement, closets into the active cabinet of world affairs, and they are lost. Shut up in a closet, I observed some years ago in the Bois, where one must have his wits about him or travelling, that some very intelligent German did not seem to know which was the front or which end. Their effort to control circumstance and accommodate themselves to the new conditions of things in which they found themselves, were a series of ridiculous mis-calculations, and blunders, at which they laughed as well as did. And owing to a certain simplicity of national character, which I by no means challenge as well perhaps as to the naïve and strong veracity under which they grow up, I would not be surprised to see them think for a long time the same combination will apply to the republican elements of more force. Literally, the German people grant what has been long years in the United States—to himself if he has a talent, a genius, a smartness that when he sets more, and he must answer for it himself than for any one else. He has thought and acted for himself rather than for a system, and his horizon extended so as to embrace a variety of objects which he never could see before.

And then again, in making a grand journey through parts of several States, I observed Prussia and some of the States composing the Zollverein (united customs league) have made some strides in advance, but Austria is actually at this day retrograding. But for empire, a fair quality of liberty, a noble people, cheap living, cost there is certainly a great deal. The materials plenty and cheap, beyond comparison. Indeed business is a monopoly. In Prey wal tal, by Gratzburg, if you want gr—d—n, &c., you must go to Niederer, and pay for price. No one else has them except a very few in the whole town, in a town of 5,000 inhabitants. A large called the Krone forgot to get a menu while there. A certain man named Pelnek, going and opened a mouth or two unknown at the Kaiserin von Oesterreich (Empress of Austria). The proprietors of the house, finding his attention—the case went to Vienna. After the Kaiser in all, allowed to receive travellers but the source of profit here, the sale of wine and beer, and nothing else—consequently no cattle."

☞ The total loss by the burning of Washington Hall, Court street, in the Broad Street House, New York, on Tuesday, is reported to have been $25,000. The New York Times says that it was in one of its rooms that Washington took his farewell of the officers of the army, at the close of the war, and drinking with them a glass of wine, and pledging each to support and assist in the free form and independent they had fought so valiantly and long to achieve. It was fitted about the middle of the last century, and its foundation is probably the oldest in the city. At the time of the strength of the original wood, and the firm manner in which it was erected, is found in the fact that although it was a corner building, but a small portion of the walls fell down.

☞ THOMAS P. MEAGHER, late a convict sentenced by the colonial authorities of Van Diemen's Land, for the arrest of Stapleton, Irish patriot, in £2,000 for such time as may be determined upon by the sureties suggested. The description in the official Gazette of the fugitive is as follows:

"From the inside of the D—n Bay to Lake Sorell, on the line of [illegible] Lewin, on the 3d January, Thomas Francis O'Meagher, per Swiftsure, tried at Clonmel, 21st February, 1849, life, a law student, 5 ft 9 inches, age 28, complexion fair, hair [illegible], native place city of Waterford."

Panorama of the Hudson.

The little folks say that is the best Panorama they ever did see. The views, scenery and pleasing remembrances of the Picture combine together, we do not wonder that they are delighted. The interest of the exhibition will be sustained, from beginning to end, and there is no inclination to go to sleep as such shows is sometimes how dissipated. All should go and hear Miss Moore's sweet voice, and see Miss Peck's pretty face, to say nothing of Mr. McFarland's who sings the songs of the people to perfection.

Warrant in Arrest of Mrs. Sinclair.

The New York Mirror says that about the time of the sailing of Mrs. Sinclair in the Asia, for Liverpool, on Wednesday, a writ of replevin was issued against her, and the sheriff went on board to serve it, but was unable to find Mrs. Sinclair. There was some talk of breaking open state-room doors, but Capt. Judkins very quietly intimated that if any movement was made to violate the sanctity of the ladies' apartments, for person attempting it would go overboard. Upon what grounds the writ was issued was not known.

Supreme Court at Dairyville.

The following letter and a memorandum book was found floating in the dock at Sargent's wharf, this morning. From the superscription on the letters it appears the owner's name was Capt. Otis Grindall, of Hingham, and it is supposed he fell overboard [illegible] night, and was drowned, as the vessel sailed for that vicinity last evening.

Lancaster, the late Whig candidate for Governor of Ohio, has been appointed Postmaster of Cincinnati, in the place of Mr. Hall, the Democratic candidate for Governor.

Bangor Air-Tight COOKING STOVE

THE best Cook Stove ever introduced to the notice of the public.

Having secured the sole agency of this very desirable Stove, I take great pleasure in recommending it to customers and the public. This Stove was invented expressly for the eastern market by the experienced and ingenious Stove manufacturers, Messrs. Eastes & Whitney, who know, and have appreciated the wants of the eating public. It is now offered to the public with the utmost confidence in its merits, and its superiority over every other Cooking apparatus ever introduced. Its construction for Baking, Roasting, Broiling, &c., renders it unsurpassed, and the extensive and beautiful Oven for Baking and Heating, will recommend itself to the Ladies. Every article of its construction has been carefully tested, and if any thing should at any time get out of repair, it will be repaired, if necessary, at a trifling expense without charging one cent for castings to be called for at New York, Rhode Island, or elsewhere. Every Stove is warranted a year, and we will surely convince customers they can get a Stove and the money will be refunded after 30 days trial.
